Maximum flexibility at the POS

Torex Flexi-Stand provides total flexibility when it comes to installing hardware at the Point of Service. The individual stand components may be configured in various formats and are simply plugged together to make the best use of the available space to meet specific operational needs.

Torex Flexi-Stand:

- Enables optimum set-up of touch screens & displays at any desired angle
- Supports additional displays for advertisement modules
- Provides adjustable tilt/swivel holders for POS peripherals such as EFT terminals
- Improves organisation and operational hygiene Point of Service
- May be customized for specific retail needs

Freely adjustable at any time

Based on a clever modular system, Torex Flexi-Stand enables the installation of POS components with maximum flexibility that may be easily changed, for example to add a new component to the existing system configuration.

More organisation at the POS

All cables may be routed within the stand, for protection and to provide a safe and visually appealing counter area, which also facilitates cleaning, particularly in the food and hospitality sectors.

Each module has an aperture for easy cable routing and connector plugs may be fitted through the pole system. After installation openings may be closed to maintain a consistent appearance.

Robust and rugged

Torex Flexi-Stand consists of 2 mm thick steel tubes and the system is 'built to last'. The diameter of the individual components is optimised to ensure maximum stability. The durable powder-coated finish is both hygienic and attractive.

Individually adjustable

Torex Flexi-Stand is delivered in black as standard but other RAL colours are available on request. Our developers will also help with customised design requirements - just let us know.
